Siolta Chroí "On care for our common home" this course explores how farming can be a key solution to climate change and biodiversity loss. It will give farmers an overview of the key aspects of regenerative agriculture, exploring such things as soil food web, water and nutrient cycling, agroforestry and direct selling to ensure the farmer gets a fair wage for their work. More importantly, they want to create a network of farmers around this region who are working on restoring the ecosystem of Monaghan and the surrounding counties.
